

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND LIVE STOCK

Fred Shannon Loses Barn, Two Cows and His Entire Crop of Hay.

A large barn on the farm of Fred Shannon on Echo avenue was destroyed by fire early Wednesday evening, and two cows and all of his hay crop were burned with it.

Mr. Shannon had just completed his haying and had stored away between fifteen and twenty tons and had started for this city with some extra farm hands he had to help him haying. He had not been gone but a short time when the barn in flames and he rushed over with other neighbors to assist Mrs. Shannon and her children, who were alone on the farm. The fire spread with such lightning rapidity that there was no time to save anything.

A still alarm was sent in for the auto truck and it started shortly after seven o'clock. While making good time near the Lamprey farm, one of the tires blew out and this delayed them so that an alarm was sent in from box 76, and the department responded, but the fire was out before their arrival. The auto chemical arrived after considerable delay and put down the ruins.

Fortunately the wind was blowing away from the house and this was not touched.

The fire loss is about $1800. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to be due to carelessness on the part of the farm hands, who left a match or a cigar butt about.

DECORATED GRAVE OF DEAD COMRADE

Members of Wild West Company Make Touch- ing Tribute

A touching tribute for the dead marked the visit of the Young Buffalo Wild West show at Concord on Tuesday evening, when the members of the show in a body visited Calvary cemetery in that city and decorated the grave of Michael Quinn, a former member of the Wild West company, who has been resting there since 1908.

Quinn was injured at Concord that year and died at the hospital in that city from the effects of his injuries.

As the members of the show entered the gate of Calvary cemetery they removed their hats and at the grave they formed in a semi-circle around Colonel Cummins. Young Buffalo then stepped forward and handed to Col. Cummins a handsome wreath. In appropriate words the Colonel stated the nature of the visit to the grave and paid a tribute to the dead brother, at the conclusion of which the wreath was placed upon the mound.

ADMITS TAKING $23,000

Trusted Employee of Rice Firm Held for Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, July 11.—William M. Lawrence, 40, a church member and trusted employee of the rice and grain importing concern of Daniel Talmadge's Sons (admitted in the Tombs court to Magistrate Corrigan yesterday that he had taken at least $23,000 from the concern during the past six years.

This money, he said, had been spent in being a "good fellow and spender" in the Tenderloin. He was held in $5000 bail for action by the grand jury. The firm alleges that the thefts will amount to $40,000.

LICENSE INSPECTOR LOCKE GRILLED BY CONCORD PAPER

Claims He Should Have Been Dis- charged for Malicious Activity

The Concord Patriot in its issue of July 10, editorially pays its respects to License Inspector G. Scott Locke of that city under the caption of "License Spotters," as follows:

"You've got to pound these fellows, and the harder you pound them the more they will respect you."

"The advice contained in the words printed above is said to have been given by G. Scott Locke, of Concord, an agent of the state license commission, to other inspectors over whom he exercises an authority which is obvious and generally unquestioned, although where or how it was derived is probably not clear even to the commissioners themselves, who also often appear to be dominated by the whims of Mr. Locke. This individual long ago lost whatever value he might have once possessed as an inspector, and his influence in Concord where he is so well known, and his tactics cannot be disguised, is of course, absolutely negligible."

"Even before the licensed saloons were restored in Concord last year Mr. Locke, by his disgraceful interference with the conduct of their business by licensees in Portsmouth and other places, earned a swift dismissal from the service of the state. The fact that he has not been discharged by the commission for malicious activity and palpable inefficiency is perhaps the most serious fault for which Commissioners Little, Kivel and Keyes can be held accountable."

"Items in the Portsmouth papers, which have appeared on innumerable occasions, indicating the pernicious meddling of which Mr. Locke has been so frequently guilty in that city and disclosing the exaggerated authority assumed by him as a representative of the state, as well as his extraordinary interpretation of the license law, have been more than sufficient evidence for at least a hearing before the commission on the question of the propriety of Locke's conduct."

"On Tuesday of this week Mr. Locke revealed his capacity for mischief making by bringing to Concord Inspector Richardson of Littleton, whom he installed as a 'spotter' at certain saloons against which Locke is supposed to have a pronounced prejudice.

"Representatives of The Patriot cannot recall having seen anything for a long time so obnoxious as was Mr. Richardson's conduct in Concord yesterday."

Selecting as victims men who from every exterior indication were perfectly sober, Richardson pompously instructed saloon keepers not to sell liquor to these patrons. The agent it was clear, did not know the men, and appeared to be intent upon irritating the licensees, perhaps hoping that if he continued his badgering tactics long enough he would draw forth an attack upon himself, which he could use as a basis for a complaint to the commissioners."

"It was evidently a case in which Richardson tried to compel licensees to depart from the letter of the law by persistently combatting them, and by absurd and contemptible interference with the performance of a business which the voters of Concord legalized two years ago and that in our belief has its only satisfactory solution in intelligent regulation which assuredly can never be achieved with men on the state pay roll of the calibre of G. Scott Locke and his trained outspaw from Littleton A. J. Richardson."

"When a citizen realizes that Marshal Kimball had a force of extra police officers on duty Tuesday and that these men who were stationed in the vicinity of all the saloons know the license-holders and their employees, are familiar with the persons who loiter near the places, besides being acquainted with the individuals whose names are on the black list, it is understood that the police provide adequate supervision. With such skilled watchfulness on the part of the police the need of any 'spotter' like Richardson does not suggest itself. The deliberate misconduct for which the agent system was responsible yesterday was a flaw that the people will eventually correct, if the commissioners do not."

"If the Republican majority on the license commission is sanctioning the 'spotter' practices as a matter of politics, we shall be satisfied to have it continue a bit longer, as it is surely an argument in favor of turning out the office-holders."

STATION MAY NOT GO

Rye Beach Cable Office to Stay for a While at Least.

It is now reported that the Western Union Telegraph company is reconsidering the move of abandoning the cable station at Rye beach and that if it is transferred it may not go for a year or more. The plan was to consolidate the Rye beach station with that at Swampscott, Mass., which strikes the company as a very costly venture. The cable would have to be taken up to the other side of the Shoals, and a new section spliced to from that vicinity to Swampscott. Splicing is not the best thing for an ocean cable and other expenses that would be necessary is something that the company is giving much thought.

NO VEGETABLES

Hayes' Market Wagon Off For First Time in 70 Years.

That the continued hot spell and drought is working havoc for the farmers is evidenced by the fact that the Hayes farm wagon, which brings vegetables to the local market, has been taken off its route.

This is the first time in seventy years that the wagon has not been a daily visitor with supplies for the local market. Mr. Hayes says he cannot get the necessary vegetables to make up a load to bring to the local market, hence this action on his part.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—With delegates in attendance from every State in the Union and from many of the outlying American possessions, the National Prohibition Convention got under way here today. This was the first national political gathering ever held in Atlantic City. The setting was most appropriate, the convention hall being located at the extreme ocean end of a pier jutting a quarter of a mile out into the water. Open on all four sides, the hall was swept by an ocean breeze, and as an accompaniment to the proceedings there was the nearby roar of the breakers crashing on the beach.

Today's session of the convention was expected to be given over entirely to the opening address of the temporary chairman, Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, to addresses of welcome and to the routine business of temporary organization and the appointment of committees on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, resolutions and platform. Tonight business will be laid aside and there will be a meeting in honor of the "heroes" of the Prohibition cause. Thursday will come permanent organization and the adoption of a platform, together with miscellaneous business. Friday will come the nomination of presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

A Prohibition parade along the Board Walk and the principal streets of the city was scheduled for this afternoon. There is decidedly an "insurgent" element in the convention and some of the sessions are expected to be marked by lively controversy. Questions relating to woman suffrage, the initiative, referendum and recall, and a proposed change in the name of the party, undoubtedly will provoke debate. Some of the delegates are insisting that the name of the party be changed to "Prohibitionists" and declare that the Prohibitionists were the first real progressives in the national political field. The Prohibition delegates apparently are earlier risers than most members of political conventions, the hour for beginning the daily sessions having been set for 8.30 a. m., instead of noon, as is customary.

VALENTINE'S SUCCESSOR

Commissioner Has Not Re-signed Although Many Think So.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The White House and the interior department are receiving many letters from all parts of the country suggesting available men to succeed Robert G. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs. This has led to a widespread report that the commissioner has resigned.

Secretary Fisher, however, flatly denies that Mr. Valentine has resigned, and at the White House it was positively stated that no resignation had been received there.

It was reported that because of trouble which has arisen in connection with the so-called religious garb order affecting the dress of Roman Catholic teachers in Indian schools, and attacks before a congressional committee on Commissioner Valentine, he might quit the office in the near future.

REWARD FOR WOMAN

Rumors Lead to Action by Woonsocket Authorities.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 11.—Rumors that Mrs. Angela Parmenter-Delmar is alive and would be produced in court next Saturday at the trial of Henri Deslouvre for the crime, led Detective John T. Sutton to offer a reward of $200 yesterday to anyone who would produce the woman alive. The police are firm in the belief that the headless body recovered from the Blackstone river is that of the woman who was Deslouvre's housekeeper, but the attorneys for the defendant claim that there is no conclusive evidence to prove the identity of the body.

The prosecution is expected to ask for a continuance when the case is brought into court next Saturday. This move the defense will oppose. Archambault and Jolbert, the defendant's counsel, stated yesterday that they had secured additional evidence in Lawrence and New Bedford, Mass., where the woman had friends.

Miss Josephine Treacartin of Rye is at Cambridge, Mass., taking a Harvard Summer Course with Dr. Norman W. Ross, on the Theory of the Fine Arts.

FOREST FIRE DESTROYS RAILROAD BRIDGE

Fire Thought to Have Been Caused by Spark From Locomotive

INTERLAKES, N. J., July 10.—Although fire did considerable damage today to the Boston & Maine railroad bridge in the town of Madison, trains were able to cross after some delay.

The express from Boston was an hour late as a result of the fire, but it was expected that normal service would be restored tonight or tomorrow. The fire is thought to have been started by a spark from a locomotive.

A forest fire which started a week ago Sunday in the vicinity of Pinkham Notch, east of Mt. Washington, was still burning fiercely tonight, and several hundred men are engaged in fighting it and another blaze in the vicinity of Twin Mountain.

More than six square miles of territory on the Rocky Branch of the Saco river, controlled by the Conway Lumber Company, has already been burned over, but the loss was not heavy, as most of the land had been recently cut.

Two lumber camps owned by E. E. Libby & Son, near Pinkham Notch, are reported to have been destroyed, but these are the only buildings thus far burned, so far as is known.

Glen road, one of the principal thoroughfares in the White Mountains, is reported tonight impassable because of the flames.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET

Esperantists Make Hub Reasoned with Strange Cacophonies—Uncle Sam, as Arbitrator of Public Morals, May Deal Cupid a Severe Jolt—Suffragists in July Prepare for November Jollification.

BOSTON, July 11.—The United States and Canada have hoisted it to the big national shoe and leather market fair in the Mechanics' building, officially opened July 10. Foreign countries also have their standing at the Hub's big exposition, and many interesting events and entertainments occupy their time "Canadian Day" at the fair was set aside for the special interests of the northern neighbors, taking place Friday, July 12. Automobile trips, luncheon excursions and banquets lent spice to the business routine and the crowds of visitors found the truth of Boston's reputation as a summer resort despite the heat, which, to put it gently, was mildly uncomfortable.

Master Cupid will get a sad jolt from Uncle Sam, if Postmaster Mansfield's recommendations are carried out. The "mean old thing" (meaning Mr. Mansfield—not Cupid) has sent to Washington for permission to put a stop to young girls calling at the general delivery window of the post office to intercept letters which would otherwise be delivered into the hands of their family. The postmaster is not vindictive and does not want to put Cupid down and out entirely, but he does draw the line at having his office turned into a marriage bureau. The result of this move will probably necessitate the lovelorn Juliet's arising at an earlier hour than usual in order to get the mail before mother does if she still persists in corresponding with the young man of whom her parents do not approve. The Boston girl of puritanic lineage thinks it is undoubtedly a good thing that such clandestine correspondence should be put under the ban, since there are always a certain number of misguided young women who persist in writing and receiving letters which they dare not show their parents. Yet how about the husband who goes to the same general delivery window and intercepts the letter containing a check which he does not want his wife to see? Isn't sauce for the goose equally good food for the gander? Here is a poser for suffragists. Some Boston girls, at any rate, are real mad about it, and think that Uncle Sam is about the meanest ever.

For the big suffrage parade to be held in New York on November 9, immediately after the Presidential election, plans are already enthusiastically under way, according to intimations received at the Boston headquarters, 588 Boylston street. It is to be an evening parade, in which the marchers will carry torches. It is reported that the Men's League for Women's Suffrage was the instigator of the parade, which is expected to surpass the demonstration on May 4, and the men's league is sharing equally the responsibility with the women. Electrically decorated automobiles, illuminated floats, banners and horsemen and horsewomen carrying torches will make the scene a brilliant one. Open air meetings will be held in Union square and the permit allowing 10,000 marchers has already been granted. Meantime the summer campaigns of the country and shore resorts are going on steadily and the ranks of the suffragists are swelling week by week.

Boston welcomes the Esperantists this week at the 25th anniversary celebration of the founding of their language. "Anyone who thinks Esperanto is a myth should be present in Copley square when the conventionists start on a sight seeing trip around the Hub. It immediately presents itself as well understood, comprehensive language which is talked by hundreds of well informed people. More than 120 magazines are printed in Esperanto and the works in general literature run considerably over a hundred. The Boston convention is under the auspices of the New England Esperanto association and the Boston Esperanto society, which have joined to entertain the American association. Many of those in attendance at the Boston meeting planned to sail on July 13 for the English International Esperanto congress at Oswego, Poland. The party will be called the Nordamerika Karavano and will include in its itinerary the Azores and Mediterranean ports and thence extend across Austria. A surprising array of evidences of the extent to which Esperanto is being used as a commercial language in many countries was among the interesting features of the convention.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10.—The admission made by Connie Mack, manager of the world's champion athletics, that Captain "Dan" Murphy, the hard hitting rightfielder, is out of the game for the season, was a shock to the followers of the American league team. Mack said Murphy had water on the knee.

P. A. C. DEFEATED, LOSE FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE

Riversides of Kittery Win in a Game of Brilliant Catches.

SUNSET LEAGUE.

Games This Week.
July 11—K. of C. vs. 1912.

SUNSET LEAGUE STANDING.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
C. U.	6	3	.666
P. A. C.	7	4	.636
Elks	6	5	.549
K. of C.	6	5	.549
Y. M. C. A.	4	6	.400
Riversides	3	7	.300

The P. A. C. dropped into second place in the Sunset league by losing a game to the Riversides on Wednesday evening, by a score of 11 to 6, but it was a better game than the score would indicate, for after the first inning the P. A. C. played fine ball.

The Riversides secured six runs in the first inning on two hits, three errors and one man being hit and a peculiar play was instrumental in one run being scored. Philbin flied out to Bill Woods for a sacrifice fly and instead of leaving the base he held it and Locke forgetting that he was out threw wild to first and Paul scored. Philbin went around the bases and it was not until after he had scored on a wild pitch that it was discovered that he was already out.

Locke pitched for the P. A. C. and while he was only hit five times he was inclined to be wild on a disused three passes and had three wild pitches, all costly. Lombardi on the other hand held the heavy hitting Athletics down to four hits, one of which was a hard drive to center for a home run by Jim Newick. It was good for two runs as there was a man on.

Ned Paul played a great game at first, and he made no less than three great catches two of which were of the sensational order, the last in the fifth getting Newick's foul over to the bleachers well back of the bases and in one hand. Mattison also made a wonderful catch in the fourth of a fly into left over by the foul line which he captured on the run while running with the ball. He also made a fine stop in the first of Able's hard ground-er, but Fredrick dropped the throw for a foul out. George Woods also made a fine catch in deep center and Newick made a fine stop in the fourth.

For the winners Lombardi played a fine fielding game, as already stated Paul was the star on the first.

The game in detail:

First Inning.

George Woods opened for the Champions by fanning, being thrown out at first as Pruett dropped the ball. Fredrick hit to Lombardi and Newick was safe on Caswell's fumble, but he was forced at second on Fisher's grounder to Caswell.

The Riversides opened with Grant getting a hit, Caswell was hit and both advanced on a wild pitch. Pruett hit to Wear, who let it bounce off him outside of third base and Grant and Caswell scored, and Pruett went to second. Able drew a pass and Huntton hit a hard one to Mattison, he made a great stop and threw to second to force Able and Fredrick dropped the ball. Paul drove out a two-base hit that scored Pruett and Able, Huntton going to third, Philbin flied out to W. Woods and Huntton scored. Philbin stayed on first and Locke threw to catch him, the ball went wild and Paul scored from second. It was not until Philbin scored on a wild pitch that it was discovered that he was already out and had no right to have remained on the base. Farnsworth struck out and Lombardi flied out to Wear.

Score—Riversides, 6; P. A. C., 0.

Second Inning.

The P. A. C. scored after two men were down. W. Woods flied out to left, Jewell was thrown out by Lombardi, Locke reached first on Huntton's error. He was advanced on Mattison's being walked and Wear singled to right and Sperry scored. Able threw to the plate and Pruett relayed it to Caswell in time to catch Mattison off third.

Sperry lightened up and Grant and Caswell fanned, but he went off and passed Pruett and Able. They were advanced on a wild pitch and both scored on Huntton's single. Paul singled and Huntton scored on a wild pitch and Philbin's hard drive to center was captured by G. Woods, a fine catch.

Score—Riversides, 9; P. A. C., 1.

Third Inning.

The Champions counted twice. George Woods was thrown out by Lombardi, Fredrick singled and Newick caught the first ball pitched and t sailed out into the automobiles and it was good for a home run. Fisher fanned and W. Woods gave Paul a chance to make a great catch of a foul fly.

The Riversides were retired in short order. Farnsworth singled, Lombardi put up a pop fly which Fisher milled and doubled. Farnsworth at first. Grant was out to Fredrick.

Score—Riversides, 9; P. A. C., 2.

Fourth Inning.

Jewell fanned, Locke was given life on Huntton's fumble, Mattison flied out to Paul and Wear was safe on Farnsworth's error, but G. Woods retired the side with a bouncer that Lombardi broke and Huntton got and threw him out at first.

The Kittery team were out in order. Caswell, on a hard drive to Newick, Pruett on a line drive to Bill Woods and Able on a fly to left which Mattison made a wonderful catch of after a hard run.

Fifth Inning.

toon that he made a fine stop of, but Fredrick beat out the throw, he stole second and then third and Newick shot a foul fly over to the first base bleachers which Ned Paul made a wonderful one hand catch of. Fisher was passed and stole second, but W. Woods hit a fly to Lombardi, Jewell hit to Huntton, who fumbled, and Fredrick and Fisher rumped home. Locke ended the game with a strike out.

WORTH $3,500,000

Court Allows $35,000 a Year for Support of Mrs. Flagler

New York, July 10.—An accounting filed in the supreme court by Andrew Freedman, committee of the property of Mrs. Ida A. Flagler, wife of Henry M. Flagler, the Standard Oil millionaire, shows Mrs. Flagler's estate is valued at $3,441,000. Mrs. Flagler, who is confined in a sanitarium at Central Valley, N. Y., was adjudged an incompetent by the supreme court in 1904.

Because of the increased cost of living, Justice Bischoff in approving the accounting, allowed $10,000 a year additional to the sum of $25,000 already provided yearly for the maintenance of Mrs. Flagler.

Itching, bleeding, protruding, or blind piles yield to Doan's Ointment. Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

Care of the Bathroom.

No part of the house needs more attention than the bathroom, which is sometimes an unsightly place. Do not use sand soap for cleaning a porcelain tub or washstand. It will mar the surface and make it look like ground glass. Then if the porcelain becomes stained one cannot make it white again. Use ammonia in the water instead, but if dirt or grease requires an extra cleanser, dampen the scrub cloth with kerosene, and later wash with warm water. If the tub is enameled, scour with a cloth made of a salt bag which has been thoroughly moistened with turpentine, and polish with a clean cloth. Save bags in which kitchen salt comes for this purpose.

While all the water pipes in the house should be flushed at least once a week with hot water, more frequent care should be given the waste pipes of the bathroom. They should be scalded with a strong solution of chloride of lime for ten minutes at a time. This will keep the pipes clean. Some housekeepers add a generous amount of red pepper to the line. Hot water in which borax has been dissolved is also good for this purpose. If there is a rusty sediment in the bathtub, you can remove it by dipping a cloth into turpentine and salt, then scouring the tub. It will soon be as clean as new.

Soap left over from the toilet, the laundry and the kitchen is usually considered so much waste. It is thrown out, though probably most housewives have misgivings as to the extravagance of not using the last scrap of an expensive or good soap, but every small piece of soap should be saved. No matter to what tiny dimensions it has been reduced, it will help to clean the bathtub and the stationary washstand. This may be accomplished by means of a substantial cotton or woolen bag, which should be about a foot square and made with a drawstring. Into it are dropped from time to time the bits of soap collected from the bedrooms, the bathrooms, the laundry and the kitchen. The bag is closely drawn at the mouth, and the string wound about the top and then tightly tied. When this bag is dipped into water the contents give forth plenty of suds, and the whole may be used as a cleaning cloth to scrub the bathtub and marble bowl.

Keep all bottles well corked, air the medicine chest and have a small jar of quicklime in the closet. It will absorb all odors. Rods are more convenient for hanging towels upon than rings or nails, and the towels dry more quickly on rods; but if you must have nails paint them white with enamel to avoid having rust stains on face cloths and towels. Faucets are easily brightened by rubbing them with a little lemon peel.

Bird's-Eye Views.

President Taft and Governor Wilson are to be officially informed of their nomination about August 1. Why leave them uncertain so long as to whether they were really nominated or not?

President Taft has returned to the summer White house, at Beverly, Mass., but your Uncle Samuel will carry on business as usual at the same oldstand in Washington, D. C.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Helen Taft has been going on picnics, but she won't have much of a time unless she goes out in the White House kitchen and makes her own potted ham sandwiches.

Abundant corn and cotton crops are looked for, but owing to the high cost of something or other, the hungry and naked might as well get ready to pay higher prices.

The Baltimore delegates held out to vote 46 times, but when they got home they found that their wives settle questions of the household economy on the first ballot.

Editor Hearst will support Woodrow Wilson and he will doubtless persuade his former protegee, Mr. Hilsen to do the same. There are two votes, anyhow.

Speaker Clark was "mad clear through," but has too much parliamentary sagacity to attempt an appeal from the decision under hopeless circumstances.

Col. Roosevelt has that sincere contemplative look that comes over a man when he wonders whether it is worth while to draw to a pair of deuces.

It is difficult to see how the picturesque interest is going to be maintained. Neither of the leading candidates makes a specialty of current slang.

The Liberty bell at Philadelphia is cracking badly, and may fall in pieces. Some dime museum men will be offering $7.50 for it, and won't be able to understand why he doesn't get it.

When This Old Flag Was New

When this old flag was new,
The manners and the men
That are so petty now
Mothinks were better then.
The straits that we were in,
The work there was to do,
All hands and hearts made strong,
When this old flag was new.

A brave old race they were
Who peopled all the land,
No man of them ashamed
To show his horny hand;
Hands that had rasped the sword,
Now drew the furrow true;
For honored was the plough
When this old flag was new.

The schoolhouse and the church
Were raised the self-same day;
For who would learn to read,
Should learn, they thought, to pray.
They read the Bible then
And all believed it true;
For they were simple folk
When this old flag was new.

Its stripes of rising day
Its clustering stars of night—
They saw them burn afar,
And blessed their glowing light;
For lot as years went by,
Within its sky of blue,
Star after star arose,
When this old flag was new.

Hail to the brave old flag!
Wherever it has flown
The State has gone before
And made its greatness known;
It found us torn with war,
It found us weak and few—
We even had a king
When this old flag was new.

Today the world in arms,
With all its banded kings
Invincible in war,
And in the woe it brings—
Though over all the land
Their conquering eagles flew,
Would know their sun went down
When this old flag was new.

God bless the dear old flag!
The nation's hope and pride,
For which our father fought;
For which our children died,
And long as there shall beat
A heart to freedom true,
Preserve the rights we won
When this old flag was new.

EIGHT CARS DERAILED

CURRENT OPINION

BY
REV. ALLEN A. STOCKDALE, of Boston.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR SUCCESS

The qualifications for true success in business life are:—first, business imagination, that working of the mind which forces long enough to get ready to meet them, the demands of the public for necessities and commodities. Nowhere in all the world is the imagination more serviceable than in business life. That practical living by the imagination in the demands that are bound to come. Second, strong personality that is able to attract and hold the right sort of workers and helpers and put the business leader in close contact with human thoughts and feelings.

In political life true success is measured by what the person is able to do in office for the public good. A successful grafter is a tremendous failure for he is a robber of the worst sort. Political life demands fearlessness and public spirit. The virtue of self-forgetfulness in behalf of public good is a true qualification. A problem-solver is of greater value than a hand-shaker. Public good instead of "public goods" must be the goal of the true man in political life.

In social life the success depends upon the ability of man to demonstrate the fine art of living. Patient interest in the weak in order to help them become stronger is better than sentimental gush, over the unfortunate in order to make a show of sympathy. The possession of facts is an indispensable qualification for social life.

Success in the personal life depends upon the way you can live with yourself. What you think of the man you meet in the mirror, is the truest test of personal life. To live the white life for its own sake is the real demand of personal success.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

WANT "OLD GLORY" DISPLAYED
Portsmouth, N. H.,
July 10, 1912.

To the Editor of the Herald:—
The citizens of Portsmouth should and do have a just pride in the public playgrounds of our city, and all feel grateful to those who have made it possible by their generosity in providing the instructors and equipment for the training of our children, which has been of great benefit and blessing in many. These are the things dear to the hearts of the fathers and mothers who realize the great good that is being done for their children, but it seems to me and many others that there is one point that is being neglected among the many good things, and it is one that is strictly observed in other city playgrounds, that is, the flying of the flag every day that the playgrounds are open. The flag is raised in the morning and the children salute it; in the evening, the lowering of the flag means that the playgrounds are closed and the children return to their homes. This may seem but a small thing, but to instill love and respect for our country's flag in the hearts of the young means great things in days to come. This custom is observed in our public schools, and as we serve in our public schools, and as we should be so observed on our playgrounds, which are but a summer school.

Hoping that you will bring this matter to the notice of those concerned,

Senator Tillman of South Carolina Photographed While Congratulating Woodrow Wilson at Sea Girt.

Among the most conspicuous in public life who have visited Governor Wilson at Sea Girt, N. J., to congratulate him on his nomination for president is Senator Benjamin Ryan Tillman of South Carolina. Senator Tillman has been one of the national figures in the Democratic party for many years. He has represented his state in the upper branch of the national legislature since 1896 and is a candidate for reelection.

Editor of the Herald:—

I saw a piece in your paper of the 6th which stated that someone plucked the old hose reel from the dump on Wednesday night. I would like to say that it did not go on that date but was taken May 26th and was not plucked but bought and paid for with good clean U. S. money.

Traveler is Kicking

Editor of the Herald:—
Patrons of the Portsmouth and Concord branch have received another snap in the face. In the future after you have borne the innumerable discomforts of a forty mile ride in two hours to Manchester, do not be surprised if you wish to continue to the capitol, when you are told to change at Manchester and have to hustle for a seat in an already overcrowded train for the remainder of your journey.

TRAVELER.

G ets Back at H. W. T.

Editor The Herald:—

H. W. T. furnishes a lengthy communication in your paper of Wednesday in which he advocates a grand field day with a contest between the several bands of the town and the same between the handbuds of Portsmouth.

Now, Mr. Editor, what does H. W. T. mean? For the sake of the great Jehovah, will this handbud agitation ever end and how long have the citizens to be tortured with the aggregation that have such brain storms over handbuds. I will venture to say that neither of the charity institutions of Portsmouth can touch these handbud heroes for appealing for public aid and I for one do not favor the Board of Trade putting out one copper for any more water throwing contests or hot air gatherings of these so-called veterans. Let them hustle for themselves. As for a contest among the bands, that is a first class crazy idea as we have only one decent band in our city, and that is ready any time we want it for public work. H. W. T. had better arrange a different program for a field day and forget about the drum corps, the Veteran Firemen and the Italian band.

The Call for a New Party.

The call for a new party does not say it—indeed, it contains nothing beyond a gloomy recital of unmitigable woes for which no specific remedy is even suggested, but the movement obviously has three major purposes. One is the glorification of Theodore Roosevelt. Another is revenge upon Mr. Taft and the republican party. Last, but by no means least, is the advocacy of Mr. Roosevelt's revolutionary new nationalism and George W. Perkins' theory of government by big business. New York Herald.

A STRONG FEATURE

Special Bill at Music Hall This Evening

By special efforts on the part of the management the Cerise-Keller-Grogan Trio is booked, and they certainly completed the bill. The act is said to be a great feature all over the middle west, and will be seen for the first time in this city at the Portsmouth Theatre to night. Miss Ethel Cerise is a native of England and bears the distinction of being the youngest graduate from the Royal Academy of Music, London, graduating with high honors when she was 16 years old. She came to America with her sister, also a talented musician, and they achieved distinction in musical circles and were in great demand as drawing room entertainers until her sister met a tragic death by drowning. Since then Miss Cerise has been presenting a vaudeville act and gained fresh laurels in a new field of endeavor. She is said to be the finest lady harpist in America, besides being an expert on the violin and piano, possessing a sweet voice and charming personality. Mr. John Keller is unique in being the possessor of a peculiarly constructed throat discovered in early boyhood his marvelous gift of being able to produce accurately the various calls of birds and other sounds of nature heard in the music of the woods. He spent several months in long solitary rambles in the woods of his native southland, studying the different calls of the feathered songsters, becoming finally so expert that he decided to adopt the profession as a means of livelihood. He was secured by Martin Beck, of the Orpheum circuit, and from there played an extensive tour of the United States, and everywhere he has received liberal recognition for his work. He possesses a pleasing personality and is of Indian origin. Mr. Clarence Grogan is of Southern birth and Irish parentage. His sight was destroyed in infancy. At an early age he evinced marvelous musical genius; when four years old surprising his parents by playing melodies on the piano without having been taught a note. At seven years old he was sent to the Institute for the Blind in Alabama, where he soon collected all records along musical lines. He is the composer of several concert numbers and vocal selections, and is the only musician who has succeeded in executing four distinct melodies at one and the same time. This wonderful musical act is the greatest and best ever seen or heard in the city and everyone who is interested in music should not fail to attend this theatre at this engagement.

BUILDINGS IN CHINA

Homes and Temples Have Original and Unique Style.

Ideas Were Not Borrowed—Basis of Construction, Both External and Internal, Is That of the Nomad's Tent.

Peking, China.—Isolated from other nations by geographical barriers, such as seas, deserts, and mountains ranges, the Chinese developed a civilization which was entirely their own. Their customs, arts and sciences were indigenous and original. They borrowed little or nothing from other peoples, but built upon their own foundations. The architecture of the Chinese is typical of the originality of their civilization; it contains no borrowed elements, no exotic features.

The Chinese house exhibits certain features which can be traced directly back to the tents of the barbarian ancestors of the Chinese, who wandered into China from the west. The roof of a Chinese house, though made of rafters and tiles, still retains the shape of a tent. It hangs in graceful curves and is caught up at the corners like canvas. It does not rest upon the walls of the house, but upon wooden pillars, which are placed in the same position as the poles of a tent. The process of construction reminds one of the erection of a tent; the pillars and the roof are erected first and the walls are filled in afterward.

It is not only externally but internally that the Chinese house reminds one of a tent. There is no ceiling to hide the inner surface of the sloping roof and its supporting rafters. Instead of a wooden floor there is only a layer of bricks to cover the cold earth. The brick floor is covered with mats and rugs, which also remind one of a tent. The furniture is portable and makes one think of the desert. Most of the movables in a Chinese house, even the stove, could be loaded on the back of a camel or carried on a pole. A Chinese house is a composite affair, consisting of a number of buildings arranged around squares or courtyards, much as one would pitch tents around campfires.

Comparing the buildings of the Chinese with those of the ancient Egyptians we find that Chinese architecture is weaker in that quality which the Egyptian buildings possessed in the highest degree, namely, stability. The buildings of the Egyptians were satisfying and restful to look upon because they had the appearance of being built to stand till doomsday. Those of the Chinese, on the contrary, seem to have been built for one generation only.

The Greeks were the first people to produce a type of architecture which combined delicacy of design and stability in such a way as to secure a maximum quality.

The quality of purity, for which the Greek architecture has been so much praised, is also characteristic of the Chinese. The buildings of the Chinese display no unnecessary or exotic features. They are true to themselves and have borrowed no elements from other styles.

The roof, with its graceful curves, is the most beautiful part of a Chinese house. In fact, besides the Japanese, who have learned from them, the Chinese are the only people who build beautiful roofs. Following out the theory that one cannot have too much of a good thing, they often ornament their buildings with several roofs, one above the other, thus producing a very beautiful effect.

BIG FIRE LOSS OF SUMMER RESIDENT

Two hundred thousand dollars' damage was caused by a fire which started in the planing mill of the George McQuestion Company's lumber yard at 170 Border street, East Boston, and spread to the pockets of the Suffolk Coal Company on Wednesday. Patrick McGuire, of 269 Meridian street, watchman at the lumber yard, tried to extinguish the flames and was painfully burned about the face and hands. He is resting comfortably at the East Boston Relief hospital, to which he was taken in an ambulance. The cause of the fire is unknown. Three alarms called much apparatus from the city proper and Assistant Chief Williamson and two engines and their hose companies from Chelsea.

Mr. McQuestion has a summer home at Wallis Sands.

AN INDIAN REMINISCENCE

Story About Charlie Rath Who Was a Pioneer in Kansas

Charlie Rath, nearly 60 years of age, had a ranch at the mouth of Walnut Creek near where Great Bent stands now. No braver man ever lived on the Kansas plains than Charlie Rath, says The Hutchinson News.

He kept the stage station on the old Santa Fe trail at his ranch, known in and down the trail as the "Penceoek ranch," after its former owner, George Penceoek, who was killed by the Indians. This story is told by J. W. Hickman now of Independence, Mo., who in 1861 made a trading trip to the Cheyenne with Rath. The latter is no longer living, but a son, R. M. Rath, resides in Dodge City.

"I fell in with Rath at Council Grove in the spring of 1861," related Hickman. "He was in a hurry to get back to the ranch where he left Council Grove and told us that we must make the 150 miles in three days. The evening that we left, the Little Arkansas State station we were expecting to get to Cow Creek that night.

"At Cheyenne Creek there was a little house kept by an old man and his wife. Just before we reached the house Charlie remarked that it was getting rather late and that we must make the 150 miles in three days. The evening that we left, the Little Arkansas State station we were expecting to get to Cow Creek that night.

"He told us to take care of the team and that he would go into the house and order something for us to eat. In a very few minutes he came running back with the wagon and said: 'Boys, that house is full of drunken Indians, and I wouldn't be surprised if they have killed those two old people, but we will go in anyway.'

"Now, boys," he said, "follow me closely. Don't start to draw a pistol unless I do. If you see me start to draw a pistol draw yours and turn them loose as fast as you possibly can, and try to make each shot count."

"He walked up to the door as softly as possible, and without stopping to knock turned the latch and walked right in with both of us closely following. There was an immediate greeting of 'How Charlie, how!'

"In that room and over 16 feet square were 15-20 Indians, all more or less under the influence of whiskey, with their bows all strung up and arrows in their hands. Mr. Rath had been in the country long enough to learn to speak several dialects. Immediately he began to speak very fast and loud in them, the purpose of which neither my companion nor myself understood a word.

"Whether it was his attitude and talk or whether it was the fact that fully armed and ready for any emergency that most impressed them, I do not know. The effect was magical. They bowed immediately began to unsling their bows, put up their arrows and sneak out. In three minutes there was not an Indian to be seen. In a little room adjoining the one we were in we found the old folks crouched down in a corner almost crazed with fright."

JUDGE DODGE GETS CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP

WASHINGTON, July 10.—United States District Judge Frederick Dodge of Boston will be named by President Taft as a judge of the first circuit to succeed Judge William Schofield, who died recently.

Judge Dodge was supported by Senators Lodge and Crane and by the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Sargeant for Governor

A state wide movement appears to be under way among prominent Democrats to have President Frank W. Sargeant of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance Company become a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Sargeant has been mentioned frequently among the party leaders hereabouts and elsewhere in the state as a particularly desirable candidate to head the state ticket for the Democrats, but it has been understood that Mr. Sargeant was not so enthusiastic as he might be.

To overcome this disinclination it is planned to have a delegation of big men in the party wait upon Mr. Sargeant in a body to request him to accept the nomination. It is expected that the delegation will be so imposing in point of numbers and influence in the party and state that Mr. Sargeant will find it difficult to resist the appeal. The arrangement for this visitation is said, upon good authority, to be so far advanced that it will take place within a short time and if the reports are accurate Manchester will entertain the most distinguished body of Democratic leaders that has been here in years.

The strong run for the governor's council by Mr. Sargeant two years ago, has been the determining factor in focusing the attention of the politicians on Mr. Sargeant and a number of Democrats after looking over the field of possible candidates have decided that for availability and prospect of powerful appeal to the voters, Mr. Sargeant has a big lead over the field.

Those who are engineering the visitation on Mr. Sargeant are satisfied that at his consent to stand for the nomination can be gained it will come to him practically on a silver platter.

Dyspepsia is America's curse. Burdock Blood Bitters conquers dyspepsia every time. It drives out impurities, tones the stomach, restores perfect digestion, normal weight and good health.
